Hi all, my name is Essam and I have a passion for studying human cognition and behavior. I am applying to transfer to UCSD for their B.S. program in Cognitive Behavioral Neuroscience.

My goal is to combine neuroscience and technology to address the cognitive and neurological issues and illnesses that beset us. To get there, I've had to come across some hard classes, and I had struggled in my early stages with math, so I had to work extra hard to understand it and once I did, I realized how fascinating it is!

I am here to help you overcome the same obstacles I had faced in learning Calculus. Please reach out! I'm a really friendly person.
