Speaker of the month:

Manny Bautista

Manny Bautista has been a full-time instructor at San Diego Mesa College for 27 years. Originally hired as the head cross country and assistant track coach, he retired from coaching in 2002 and has been focused on teaching Exercise Science and Health Education classes ever since.

In the past, he has worked as a manager for the U.S. National teams at the 2008 Olympic, 2011 Pan American, 2012 World Junior Championship, 2012 Olympic and 2013 World University Games, helping to organize the pre-race protocol for the athletes. After years of traveling around the world with those teams – and studying the gym designs and equipment that he saw in other training centers – Bautista brought that knowledge back to Mesa to help design its new Exercise Science building.

Come meet Manny and hear his story from growing up in Texas, heading out on his own, the struggles being a first-generation college student, becoming a faculty member and work at the Olympics.

Connect with Mesa Latinx faculty, staff and managers in a unique way!
